(This is a sample supporting letter. Apologies for the mild joke referring to an old cartoon series with the Road Runner and Coyote. Your support letter should be more serious, acknowledging the support for the application and committing to the financial obligations mentioned in the grant application.)

Re: Engage grant proposal with Dr. A. B. Bot, University of Canada

Date: January 1, 2016

Dear NSERC:

This letter is to acknowledge our support for the Engage Proposal entitled "Catching Road Runners with Advanced Data Analysis", as submitted by Dr. A.B. Bot at the University of Canada. Dr. Bot is a leader in the discipline of analytics applied to fast road runners, and we are please to be involved in this research project with his team.

As roadrunners are an essential food source for a large variety of predators in the Canadian ecosystem, the advances promised through this research partnership will have an immediate and direct impact on many aspects of the Canada economy, including....

Our company has long been involved in the pursuit and capture of road runners, through the use of traditional means such as dropping anvils and setting traps filled with birdseed. Moving to more advanced methods including data analytics holds great promise for making our operations more competitive and profitable.

We commit to a cash contribution of $12,000 and in-kind of $17,000.

We look forward to a positive deci sion on the grant application, and a successful outcome to the collaborations.

Sincerely,

Dr. Wile E. Coyote

Statement of Partner Eligibility

This page goes with the Form 183A. Here the applicant must disclose any relationship they have with the company. Such as ownership (full or partial), employment, paid consulting, membership on a governance board, or family/marital relationship to someone with such interests in the company.

The funding agencies are expecting that the applicant is at arms length from the industrial partner.

You are allowed one page for a company profile. You can attach a brochure or information leaflet from the company, perhaps with a link to their web page. It should be short but informative. A screen capture of their webpage might be acceptable, but better to get an appropriate brochure from the company. Remember the one page limit.
